Furnished by BRISTOL BOARD OF TRADE

With a history of fifty years' growth and progress, Bristol is unique among cities of the South. She has reached her present population of 18,228, and her supremacy in jobbing, manufacturing, iron, coal, coke and lumber so steadily and so wholly without ostentation, that it is hard even for her own citizens to fully realize the causes that have produced such fine results.

Bristol owns no portion of her prosperity and importance to any kind of boom. It is as solidly grounded as any of the industrial centers of the country.

Bristol's business men have built up their city and their individual fortunes by sober, safe and sane endeavor. None of her wealthiest citizens have a liveried servant.

Bristol is an orderly city—a city of cheerful, busy people, with handsome, though rarely pretentious, homes; with well paved streets and imposing business buildings. It is an American city, fully 95 per cent. of its citizens having been born in the United States; 85 per cent. of its population is white; and almost every section of the United States is represented in Bristol. It is a sturdy race that constitutes the citizenship of Bristol.

Bristol has never known a labor strike, the reason being that a square deal all round has been and is now the motto of the employers of labor, and of the laborers.

Bristol is an educational center. In addition to its excellent system of public graded schools, it has two colleges for females, one for males, and one for colored people.

Bristol has five railroads, five prosperous banks, twenty-five jobbing houses (representing all lines), and ninety-five manufactories; also two daily newspapers.

Its principal industries are paper, pulp, (soda fibre), iron, lumber, barytes, belting leather, tanning extracts and flour. It is in the center of the timber, iron ore and coal deposits of the South. It is located on the State line dividing Virginia and Tennessee.
