To Users of This Directory

We have cooperated in producing this directory. That it will turn out to be 100 per cent perfect, can hardly be expected.

It will be commented on, both favorably and unfavorably. If you have any comments to make either way, write it down and send it to us. These comments will serve as a guide for the making of future directories.

Only through public cooperation can anything like a first-class directory be published. We want Bristol to have the best.

INTRODUCTION AND GENERAL INDEX

HILL DIRECTORY CO., INC, publishers of Southeastern Directories, present to subscribers and the general public, this, the 1948-49 edition of the Bristol, Va-Tenn., City Directory.

Confidence in the growth of Bristol's industry, population and wealth, and in the advancement of its civic and social activities, will be maintained as sections of this Directory are consulted, for the Directory is a mirror truly reflecting Bristol to the world.

The enviable position occupied by HILL'S DIRECTORIES in the estimation of the public, has been established by rendering the best in Directory service. With an unrivaled organization, and having had the courteous and hearty cooperation of the business and professional men and residents, the publishers feel that the result of their labors will meet with the approval of every user, and that the Bristol Directory will fulfill its mission as a source of authentic information pertaining to the city.

FIVE MAJOR DEPARTMENTS (Each department beginning with Page 1)

The five major departments are arranged in the following order:-

I. THE ALPHABETICAL LIST OF NAMES of residents and business and professional concerns is the first major department printed on white paper. This is the only record in existence that aims to show the name, marital status, occupation and address of each adult resident of Bristol, and the name, official personnel, nature and address of each firm and corporation in the city. Special features of this section are the designation of the number of children under Directory-listing age in each household and the listing of telephone numbers.

II. THE BUYERS' GUIDE, the second major department, printed on goldenrod paper, contains the advertisements of leading manufacturing, business and professional interests of Bristol. The advertisements are indexed under headings descriptive of the business represented. This is reference advertising at its best, and merits a survey by all buyers eager to familiarize themselves with sources of supply. In a progressive community like Bristol, the necessity of having this kind of information immediately available, is obvious. General appreciation of this fact is evidenced by the many reference users of this City Directory service.

III. THE CLASSIFIED BUSINESS DIRECTORY is the third major department, printed on yellow paper. This department lists the names of all business and professional concerns in alphabetical order under appropriate heading. This feature constitutes an invaluable and indispensable catalog of the numerous interests of the community. The Directory is the common intermediary between buyer and seller. As such it plays an important part in the daily activities of the commercial and professional world. More buyers and sellers meet through the Classified Business Directory than through any other medium.

IV. THE DIRECTORY OF HOUSEHOLDERS, INCLUDING STREET AND AVENUE GUIDE, is the fourth major department, on pink paper.

In this section the named streets are arranged in alphabetical order, followed by the numbered streets in numerical order; the numbers of the residences and business concerns are arranged in numerical order under the name of each street, and the names of the householders and concerns are placed opposite the number. The names of the intersecting streets appear at their respective crossing points on each street. Special features of this section are the designation of tenant-owned homes and the listing of telephone numbers.

V. THE NUMERICAL TELEPHONE DIRECTORY, on blue paper, is the fifth major department.

MUNICIPAL PUBLICITY

The Directory reflects the achievements and ambitions of the city, depicting in unbiased terms what it has to offer as a place of residence, as a business location, as a manufacturing site and as an educational center. To broadcast this information, the publishers have placed copies of this issue of the Directory in Directory Libraries, where they are readily available for free public reference, and serve as perpetual and reliable advertisements of Bristol.

THE BRISTOL DIRECTORY LIBRARY

Through the courtesy of the publishers of the Bristol City Directory, a Directory Library is maintained in the offices of the Bristol Chamber of Commerce, for free reference by the general public. This is one of 600 Directory Libraries installed in the chief cities of the U.S. and Canada by members of the Association of North American Directory Publishers, under whose supervision the system is operated.

The publishers appreciatively acknowledge the recognition by those progressive business and professional men who have demonstrated their confidence in the City Directory as an advertising medium, with assurance that it will bring a commensurate return.

Unique Location

Bristol, Va.--Tenn., is the largest community in the U. S. located directly upon a state line, where the line between the two states and the two cities which make up the community, lies in the center of its main business street.

The official 1940 U. S. Census showed a population of 23,772 within the corporate limits, and the present population of Bristol and suburbs is estimated at 40,000.

History and Development

Bristol is a city with an old and turbulent history. Although the land upon which Bristol is now situated was surveyed for the first time in 1749, it was not until 1903 that the Virginia-Tennessee State Line, which now bisects the main business thoroughfare, was established at its present location.

The first recorded document bearing on the city's history appears in the surveyor's book of Augusta County, Virginia, wherein a map is recorded bearing this legend: "Surveyed for John Tayloe of Richmond County, 1,946 acres on Shallow Creek of Middle Fork of Indian River at a place called Sapling Grove, Feb. 22, 1749."

John Tayloe sold this land at Sapling Grove to one James Patton for about nine pounds. In 1768, James Patton sold the same land to Evan Shelby and Isaac Baker, Shelby and Baker each taking a half interest, for 608 pounds.

In 1814, Shelby sold his half interest to Col. James King for $10,000, and in 1852 J. R. Anderson purchased 100 acres at $100 per acre from Rev. James King, son of Col. James King.

The Baker interest in the original tract passed to his son, William, who in 1799 sold 348 acres to Col. John Goodson for $3,000.

Upon the land of Goodson and King the town of Bristol was born. At that time, however, it was not called Bristol, but was called Goodson.

In 1856, Goodson was incorporated and named Bristol, for the famed Bristol, England.

Shallow Creek, mentioned in the original survey, is now Beaver Creek; Indian River is now Holston River; and Augusta County in 1749 included the entire western part of Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky and Ohio.

Bristol's history is identified with the settlement of the West. The valleys of the upper tributaries of the Tennessee River, such as the Holston and Watauga, provided natural gateways for passage of settlers to the West. Daniel Boone used these routes in his explorations.

In 1771, Colonel Evan Shelby built a stockade and trading post on the hill near the present site of the First Presbyterian Church. Here Daniel Boone and many other distinguished pioneers of the nation's history traded their pelts for powder and ball. It was in this stockade that Shelby, Campbell and Sevier planned the campaign resulting in the defeat of the British at the Battle of King's Mountain in 1780.

In the 1780's, the "Lands West of the Blue Ridge," though well sprinkled with settlers, were still frontier, and subject to the constant menace of Indian forays. Feeling aggrieved at the lack of protection afforded by the state and national governments, the settlers, under the leadership of John Sevier, created a new, independent state which they called the State of Franklin. Its capital was Jonesboro (Tennessee). Franklin, was not recognized either by state or national governments, lasted but four years (1785 to 1789).

North Carolina, in 1784, and Virginia, in 1786, passed legislation enabling the Federal Government to take jurisdiction of this territory under the name of "The Territory South of the Ohio River." President Washington made William Blount the first governor. The capitol was established at the home of William Cobb, 15 miles southwest of Bristol. Then Kentucky acquired statehood in 1792, followed by Tennessee in 1796.

Regarding the history of Bristol's famous "State Line," when in 1663 Charles II granted to Edward, Earl of Clarendon, "The Lands South of Virginia" the dividing line between the Carolinas and Virginia was placed at 36 degrees, 30 minutes north latitude. This line was supposed to run "due west to the South Seas," as provided in the Virginia Charter of 1607 and the Carolina Charter of 1663. In some way, the royal grants overlapped, and for more than 200 years the line was the subject of intense arguments and disagreements.

After commissions appointed from Virginia and North Carolina in 1711 failed to agree, in 1728 a line was run at 36 degrees, 31 minutes north, from the Atlantic Ocean to the Dan River, 241 miles inland. In 1749 this survey was extended 88 miles to Steep Rock Creek. In 1779 another commission was named to extend the line further westward, but, being unable to locate the starting point at Steep Rock Creek, they used latitudinal lines as a start and after surveying 45 miles to Carters Valley fell into disagreement. Two lines were then run from Carters Valley westward to the Cumberland Mountains. These two lines, paralleling each other about two miles apart, became the subject of further controversy, so that in 1802 another commission was formed. This commission, failing to agree on the starting point, ran a third line midway between the other two. This compromise line was adopted and ratified by the Virginia and Tennessee legislatures in 1803, and has not been changed since, except within the city of Bristol.

The compromise line of 1803 ran along the north side of what is now State Street, the main business thoroughfare of Bristol. In 1881, the Bristol city governments by ordinance agreed that for local administrative purposes, the line within the city limits should be regarded as the exact center of State Street. This action was made the subject of a Supreme Court case, at which time the High Tribunal confirmed the compromise line of 1803, which of course left the city governments where they had begun.

Finally, in 1903, the State of Tennessee solved the problem by ceding to the State of Virginia that part of State Street lying north of the center of the street. Brass markers set squarely in the center of Bristol's famed State Street now serve as a monument to this final settlement.

Since 1900 Bristol has grown from a community of 9,000 people to one of approximately 34,000 (not including suburbs), an average increase of more than 25% per decade.

Since 1940 several major developments have taken place which have affected, and will in the future materially affect, the city's growth and prosperity.

Bristol is the northern gateway to the Tennessee Valley, home of the TVA and the Atom Bomb, and one of the fastest growing sections of America.

The abundant cheap electric power brought by TVA, combined with what has been called "the best labor in the world," ideal climatic conditions all situated amidst scenic splendor unequalled anywhere in the nation, has given the Tennessee Valley and the city of Bristol a great destiny.

The South Holston TVA Dam, a $36,000,000 enterprise forming a lake with a shore line of more than 200 miles, is now under construction seven miles from the city limits of Bristol. During the recent war, work on this dam was deferred, but has been begun again through a $9,000,000 appropriation made by the 1946 Congress.

Fringing the city limits of Bristol, the State of Tennessee began in 1941 the construction of a 2,000-acre State park, a project planned to serve the entire east Tennessee metropolitan district. The park will, when completed, be one of the section's finest recreational areas.

In 1942-43, two war industries were located in Bristol employing approximately 3,600 persons, one of them a shell-loading plant, the other an aircraft factory. The shell-loading plant has been dismantled, but the aircraft factory (the Universal Moulded Products Corp.) has been converted to peacetime manufacture of radio cabinets, and employing approximately 1,700 people, has become a permanent member of Bristol's industrial family.

In September, 1946, the Monroe Calculating Machine Co., of Orange, New Jersey, an industry of national reputation, began the construction of an ultra-modern 100,000-square-foot factory building on a 37-acre site within the limits of the city. The Monroe concern has brought to the city mass-precision manufacturing which opens vast new industrial opportunities to the Bristol population and the surrounding country as well.

Almost without exception, the larger industries now situated in the city, plan, or have under way, sizeable expansion programs.

Bristol has no desire to become an "industrial town," as that term is commonly applied to many cities that have allowed industrial development to exceed development in educational, social, mercantile and civic fields; but a study of this book will indicate Bristol is maintaining balance in its growth.

Bristol is a city which to see, is to admire--to live in--to love.

Features and Departments of a City Directory

Your new, improved City Directory is the most complete and comprehensive catalog ever published of the inhabitants, business concerns and institutions of your city. It is much more than just an alphabetical list of names and addresses.

Your City Directory Contains:

An Alphabetical list of names and addresses of every resident, business concern and institution, plus wife's name and if a widow the deceased husband's initial, and the occupations of all. Principal officers or owners and a description of businesses are included as well.

A Householders' Directory including a Street and Avenue Guide. This section lists every street and where intersecting streets appear. It lists numerically every location on each street, naming the householder or business at each number and whether the person is a homeowner or renter and if he has a telephone. Similar information is provided on office and public buildings and their occupants.

A Classified Business Directory—listing every business, classified as to type, and showing names and addresses. It also lists every profession, club, society and association, hospital and cemetery, labor organization, library, park and playground and school.

A "Yellow Section" or Buyers' Guide, where the advertiser may explain in greater detail the services or products he has to offer.

A Statistical and Historical Story of your city; plus miscellaneous other information.
