ANNUAL OUTING GIVEN AT HUNGRY MOTHER PARK

Kiwanians Hosts To Five Hundred

Rain and cold weather on September 24 failed to discourage an old tradition of V. I., when the Bristol Kiwanis Club, with the assistance of other civic clubs, took the students and faculty to Hungry Mother Park, near Marion, Virginia.

For the first time since the close of World War 2, the outing was held at a distant location. During the war it was customary to go to the V. I. Ranch Camp.

Because of the weather few used the boating facilities or the sandy beach; nor were the entertainments carried out.

About five o'clock lines formed for the picnic supper served by cheerful Kiwanians from tables groaning with hot dogs, hamburgers, tomatoes, relish, onions, slaw, baked beans, potato salad, cake, ice cream, apples, coffee, and milk.

Tired and wet the students made their way to the seventy-five cars, four buses and one ambulance provided by their hosts for their transportation.

NEW TEACHERS ON V. I. FACULTY

Many Universities And Backgrounds Are Represented

Along with a great many students, eleven new teachers were welcomed to V. I.'s campus this year. A few have come here soon after receiving their college degrees and others are here fresh from personal experience in their fields.

MR. WILLIAM DANIEL is here from Lynchburg, Virginia, to teach history. He obtained his B. A. degree at Lynchburg College and while there he was sports editor of the school yearbook and business manager of the school paper. Mr. Daniel enjoys each and every sport, and he played baseball for three years while at Lynchburg. From this college he went to Duke, and then on to Vanderbilt in Nashville, Tennessee. He became a licensed Baptist minister and, while still in school, he preached in a small community church near Nashville. In Vanderbilt he was

Students Welcomed, At President's Home

Dr. R. L. Brantley, president of V. I., and Mrs. Brantley entertained the new and old students with a welcome tea on Sunday afternoon, September 14.

Miss Julia Baumgartner, secretary to the president, introduced the guests to the receiving line, which consisted of Dr. and Mrs. Brantley, Miss Marguerite Pflug, Academic Dean, and Miss Leonora A. Dorsey, Dean of Women.

Miss Orpha Rose and Miss Dora O. Miller served refreshments, consisting of punch, cookies, and cake. The table was decorated with a yellow cloth and crystal punch bowls. Fall asters adorned the house.

BIG IMPROVEMENTS MADE ON CAMPUS

New Infirmary Has Sixteen Bed Capacity

Between thirty-five and forty thousand dollars have been spent for permanent improvements on the campus of Virginia Intermont this past summer.

The infirmary, one of the major changes, is now located on the ground floor of East Hall to facilitate the removal by ambulance of seriously ill patients. Decorations and furnishings for the completely equipped first aid hospital have cost several thousand dollars. Its sixteen bed capacity, including an isolation ward, is serviced by the doctor's office, the nurses office, and reception room, and a modern kitchen. Living quarters for the nurse are on the same floor.

Every room, hall and office in East Hall has been repapered and repainted as part of the program to gradually remodel all the buildings, as only a few rooms can be done each year, but fifty rooms in West, Main, and Administration Halls have new wall paper. All old chest-of-drawers have been replaced with metal dressers, while seventy-five beds now have new inner-spring mattresses. All classrooms, studios, and the auditorium have been redecorated on first floor Main and the S. S. Intermont has received a fresh coat of paint.

To enlarge the swimming pool for class work, a wall was knocked out and the surrounding space redecorated. The entire pool, inside and out, is being repainted.

New transformers and wiring have been installed to handle the heavier load caused by the addition of five modern ranges in the home economics laboratory and a larger dish washer in the kitchen.

Missionary Alumna Visits Alma Mater

Mrs. Ann Sowell Margrett, an alumna of V. I., has recently returned from Missionary work in Rosario, Argentina. Mrs. Margrett spoke to the students of V. I. Sunday, September 21 at the vespers program and related some of her experiences. She was also the guest speaker at the Y. W. A. meeting Tuesday, September 23, in the chapel.

Mrs. Margrett is the granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Bagby, who were the first missionaries to Brazil. Her father is Dr. S. M. Sowell who was the first Southern Baptist missionary to Argentina, and who is still serving, although retired, at the age of 76. Ann finished her high school and junior college training at Intermont, staying here five years, and she received her Bachelor of Religious Education degree at the Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas.

She was married in 1933 in Argentina to an Englishman and is the mother of Doreen Elizabeth Margrett, born October 25, 1935,

Little Pal Party Welcomes New Girls

The annual Y. W. C. A. Little Pal Party was held in the gymnasium at V. I. Saturday night, September 14. The program for the old students and their little sisters was in the form of a radio talent show. June Crockett, President of the Y. W. C. A., acted as Mistress of Ceremonies, while Anne Hawthorne announced the latest news flashes.

The talent on the program was produced entirely from the new girls. Connie Ferrell sang "Begin The Beguine," and Aileen Char, Virginia Char, Josephine Char, and Edith Hoo, all girls from Hawaii.

INTERMONT OPENS WITH NEW RECORD IN ENROLLMENT

Eight Foreign Countries Represented

V. I. has enrolled 370 boarding students and 60 day students who are taking the regular college course. This is 10 more than last year. V. I. was able to take additional students this year, because of the new infirmary which made more rooms for the girls available on 4th main. The total last year for the second semester was 500. This years total for second semester promises to be at least that large or larger. V. I. has girls representing eight countries and 29 to 30 states. Dr. Brantley states, "We have a good group of students and they are all well recommended. All prospects for the year will be excellent."

CASADUS HEADS CONCERT COURSE

National Symphony Orchestra Will Also Appear

Each year the Bristol Community sponsors the Lyceum Course, a series of four concerts, presented for the enjoyment of Virginia Intermont, Sullins, and the residents of Bristol.

The four artists scheduled to

appear on this Lyceum Course are: Robert Casadus, Jan. 15; Virginia MacWatters, Feb. 17; Marina Svetlova, Oct. 23; and The National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, March 2.

Robert Casadus, French pianist, was born in Paris in 1899. He attended the Paris conservatory of Music, where he won first prize in piano. Casadus has played in nearly every European country, and, since 1935 in America, where he made his debut as soloist with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra. At present, he is the director of the piano department in the American Conservatory, Fontainebleau.

THIS IS INTERMONT TO US

To you, the new students, we could repeat the words of a song you will be hearing many times during your stay here. "A stately tower amid the trees, a special place called V. I. C. that's Intermont to me." "The halls we live in, the places where we dwell." "And especially these memories, that's Intermont to me!" Those phrases from the song are very true, and throughout the year you will find they are true.

We who have spent a year here before you, felt the same things you are feeling now. We missed the gang, the good times, and all that makes home a thing we love. But as the weeks passed by we found something here which was home, the gang, and this year we can look back upon the memories, just as the song says. We found it was a good year and we want to tell you what is good about it, and what makes it a special place called V. I. C.

You have been hearing about the Song Contest which is to come soon. We who remember the song contest last year know what it means and we want you to know what it means. You will work your fingers to the bone writing and learning the words to the Proclamation Song you will sing when all Intermont gathers in the Gym to compete for the Plaque.

You will feel that thrill run up your spine as you listen to the different classes blend their voices and fill the air with words which will mean something to you; and you will know the expectation and excitement in the moments before the winner is announced.

When you gather in chapel with sleepy faces for the morning program, you will suddenly be fully awakened by some ambitious member of your class who wants to sing the Pep song, and you will sing with spirit and voices loud as you can just to out shine those Seniors.

When comes time for the Junior-Senior basketball game you will hunt until you could drop for that little effigy the Seniors have hidden. Maybe you will find it—and maybe you won't, but it is fun hunting for it. Then comes the game that night, and you yell for your class, and those basketball players battle for the top score. Then it's all over and you gather around a bonfire to see the effigy burned and sing class and school songs. Later the winning class is serenaded. When you look down from your window and see the faces of those who are singing to you, or if you are craning your neck looking up, singing to the faces in the windows, you will know what that special place called V. I. C. means to you.

When you walk across the campus some day and hear the bells from the tower singing out across the town the Alma Mater, or some familiar song, you will know.

The bridge games you play and the home work you haven't done, and the songs you sing in the students lounge before you trek off to your room to study; these things you won't forget. The friends you make at college and the things you share here won't leave your memory for years to come.

Then comes the end of the year and you get your annual and see yourself. All those events you remember are there in picture. You rush around getting your friends to write in those books, and finally comes the goodbys and you take one last look at Intermont and leave.

This is Intermont to us who have been here before you and we want you to know it and love it as we have—This special place called V. I. C. —Bettie Wysor.

ONE WORLD AT INTERMONT

Stop! Let's stop living in the present and turn the calendar back a few years for one brief glimpse of the past—

It is now the year of 1918. The world has just entered a black passage in history. Two small, dark haired girls, clad in their native dress, prepare to open the door to knowledge, strange customs, speech, and a new world. These two little Chinese strangers were the first foreign girls to enter these halls of learning. The doors of Intermont have swung wide many times since welcoming, teaching, and loving other students from many foreign countries.

Some girls from Cuba, girls from China, Hawaii, Central America, South America—parts unseen by most of us—have lived in these rooms before us and walked down these same halls.

V. I. has grown larger and learned a great deal through the years. Much of her learning may be contributed to the many young girls from distant countries who have taught the teachers and students about their beliefs and ways of life.

Today the world is but one small airplane hop. China is no longer a distant and mysterious country. We are one world, knotted tightly together by communications and transportation. Our foreign girls no longer come to our doors dressed in their native costumes. Today, they dress as we do, and most of them speak English with ease and fluency. But V. I. is still learning. The American girls are still grateful for this chance to make friends from other countries.

This year marks the largest foreign enrollment in V. I.'s history. We have twenty-two students from eight foreign countries. These girls have organized a new campus club which we are sure to hear much about this year. The "Little U. N. O." is the official title of this organization. Margarita Valdez is the newly elected president. Jean Palmer, secretary; and Virginia Char, treasurer. Members of the "Little U. N. O." are Lynette Agestini, Puerto Rico; Giovanna Boa, Margarita Camps, Marcy Espinosa, Maria Ros, Cuba; Sylvia Zebadau, Heather Palmer, Barbara Harris, Patty Harris, Yvonne De Lawder, Guatemala; Geatrice Rodriguez, Gloria Gracia, Venezuela; Loretta Yang, Mabel Yang, Edith Hoo, Josephine Char, Aileen Char, Honolulu, T. H.; Mary Margarita Stonehouse, Canada; Rene Holley, Honduras; and Etta Jean Johnson, Brazil.

The Intermont family is very proud of its foreign representation, and is most thankful and happy to welcome these girls to our midst. Truly, Intermont has its own "Little United Nations."

HUT SMUT

by
MUTT

Since the beginning of school this year, rumors have been flying all over Intermont from East to Senior that there have been numerous lunatics seen on the campus in broad day light. They aren't lunatics, girls; those are Day Students.

So this column is dedicated to the girls who climb the Moore Street Hill twice a day dragging loads of books, who sit in the Tea Hole and thaw out in winter or cool off in summer, and who drive Miss Adamson to mayhem in the library—the notorious day students. In this issue we will present for your information an idea of the day students' school lives and hard times.

These local girls are an organized group. They met the Tuesday before school started and elected Bettie Lane Barnhill their president for the year. The other officers are Peggy Presley, vice-president, and Nancy Cross secretary.

Many of them attended the Little Pal Party the following Saturday night, and the early birds are almost always at chapel. They sneak in the back door about fifteen minutes after the program has started). The rest of the time you'll find most of this illustrious membership hanging over chairs and sprawled on couches in the hut.

Then, too, some day students are outstanding. For instance, has anyone not noticed Peggy Presley's rain hat? It most certainly stands out. In fact, she and Mr. Cooke should get together. Another well-known character is our own Jose Iturbi—one Jean Trainham, who gives concerts in the hut from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. She plays Roy Acuff, Spike Jones, and Rachmaninoff in rapid succession. And of course not to be missed is Betty Barnhill. Her peculiar trait is peering in windows down town. You'd think she was looking for someone. Also mentionable are Betty Jo Reynolds, Eloise Wooten, and Clarissa Smith. The trio has recently purchased a table at Jack Trayer's. Now they have permanent reserved seats there.

Many of the day students even have MEN. Good examples of these, and their other halves, are as follows: Doris Davidson and Tommy "Buster" O'Neil, Cora Vance and Sam Center, Nora Whitaker and Dick Burk, Dorothy Sturgill and Bob Jones, Marilyn McCarrley and Herb Davidson, and Ellen Patrick and Joe Slagle.

Of course this is only a meager outline of the happenings and mishappenings of the day students. More of these episodes will be printed in the near future, so watch out, you dear Bristolians, "Mutt's out t' getcha!"

who is now attending a British school and is studying the Spanish grades along with the English grades. She has adjusted herself so well to the expressions of the American children, she is using the expression, "Open the door, Richard," quite often.

Mrs. Margrett is at the head of the W. M. U. Training School which is located at Rosario.

Commenting on her return visit to Intermont and Bristol, Mrs. Margrett says: "Since I was in school, V. I. has added the gymnasium, library, Senior Hall, tea room, science laboratories, and the change of the infirmary. The campus is as beautiful as ever, and I feel very much like I had felt years ago, for the atmosphere around the campus seemed the same."

PERSONALITY PARADE

DORRIS WATSON

This wonderful and congenial president of Student Government made her entrance into the world from New Brighton, Pennsylvania, September 24, 1928. However, she now claims Industry, Pa., as her "home town."

No doubt you've noticed those expressive brown eyes, and that good-natured smile. She is five feet seven inches tall—blond hair, too.

Dorris's ambition is to be a chiropractor, but the sparkler on her third-finger, left-hand just happens to come first. Johnny!, and a family of three—she wants it all.

She's fascinated by surfboat riding—it looks so easy. And swimming is another pet like. She hates to throw things away—just can't bring herself to do it. Dorris abominates people who take too much for granted, and people who tell her to do something without giving a reason. She must have a reason for everything.

Music, she likes—particularly the semi-classics, "The Warsaw Concerto," "Clair de Lune," and "Because" ranking on her list of favorites. The last two simply must be played at her wedding, 'cause it is going to be perfect.

The Athletic Association, the Science Club, Curry Club, and Phi Theta Kappa, the honorary scholastic fraternity, all boast of Dorris' membership. As you can see, she's not only a busy gal, but a well-rounded one.

One of the greatest moments in her life arrived when Johnny gave her her ring, and her greatest moment on V. I.'s campus occurred when she became President of Student Government. Dorris likes all the girls here, and says they're the swellest and friendliest bunch of gals she has ever known.

Glop sandwiches are her favorite food. Glop sandwiches? Here's the recipe, courtesy of Miss Wat-

DORIS LUGAR

Says the Editor-in Chief of this year's Intermont: "I was born in Roanoke, Virginia, I've lived there all my life, and I'll probably die there." Who said Friday the 13 was unlucky? Doris was born on that day in 1927. Ripley has nothing on her, for she's a "thirteenth girl" in many ways. Besides her birthday on the 13th, she sits in seat 13 in the biology lab, and wore the number 13 when she was cheer-leader in high school.

She stands five feet four inches, has dark brown luxurious hair, sparkling brown eyes that sparkle twice as much whenever a certain Bill is mentioned. A charming personality and a winning way are hers. She owns a very friendly laugh that is most contagious.

Our gal Doris confesses an ambition to do social work, but most of all to get married. Yeah, Bill again!

She likes music—the classic and semi-classic. That seems only natural to us who have seen her rhythmic dances, particularly "Alice in Wonderland" in the May Day program last year—she had the lead, and can she dance! Loves to jitterbug, too.

Doris has been a busy gal here. Besides being that all-important Editor of the annual, she's a member of Jr. Orchesis, Program Chairman of the Y. W. A., and Secretary and Treasurer of Delta Psi Omega. You can chalk acting up as another one of her numerous accomplishments. Doris starred in "Family Portrait", the Easter play, last year, and she directed the children's theatre. She's a star in every field.

Her biggest moment on V. I.'s campus was getting the Editorship of the Intermont. And we'd say that was a big moment for V. I., too. And her big moment in life? She won't commit herself, but here's a tip—it concerns that

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF LONG SKIRTS?

There'd have been no revolution in women's styles if economists had known last spring which end of a broom was up. That's the opinion of Lew Hahn, president of the National Dry Goods Association.

The shattering and revolutionary changes were dreamed up so that merchants could sell their way out of last spring's business slump. Reactions to the new styles, particularly hemlines, have been varied. Shall skirts be the same—or long and full—or long and tubular—beruffled or debusted—draped or drooped? Betty Sue Dale has her skirts just below the knee and intends to keep them there, while her room-mate, Mary Ann Flowers, hopes that they sweep the ground by spring. Ruth Warren squeals excitedly, "I look better in long skirts." Well, now honestly, don't we all? No one's knee is attractive. Some of the new shades and materials are 'yummy'! Take those shimmering satins—Audrey Shepherd's new bottle green satin with interesting back drapes, to say nothing of Tex Richardsons' gold satin interestingly draped about her. And have you seen these new shades of taffeta? For instance Betty Boatmans' lavender suit dress, then Mary Jo Baldwin looked like chocolate candy in her off-shoulder brown taffeta with all brown accessories. Marjorie Black has a super-duper black taffeta dress that accents her already small waist and gives the affect of padded hips with long, full, stiff, folds that cascade from the waist.

Well, gals, if you're trying to hold that hemline, just remember that skirts went down when mama was a girl and no one thought that they would.

—Peggy Thomas

CASADUS TO HEAD LYCEUM COURSE, AT BRISTOL THIS YEAR

President of the Student Body of the School of Religion and a representative of the student council.

Last June Mr. Daniel was a delegate to the North American Inter-Seminary Conference at Miami University. This meeting was composed of some 700 seminary students and religious leaders whose purpose was to rethink the Christian message for man today and apply it to the present state of conditions.

When asked how he liked V. I., Mr. Daniel said he liked it very much and he thought that the class activity, thus far, has been very good and he hopes it will continue that way.

The new typing teacher, MISS BETTY WAMSLEY, comes from Clifton Forge, Virginia. She attended Averett College in Danville, Virginia, and from there she went on to the University of Tennessee to work on her Master's degree in Economics. Miss Wamsley is a member of the American Association of University Women, which is an organization of women who have received their degrees from accredited universities all over the world. Miss Wamsley also likes V. I. exceptionally well.

MR. HAROLD AYERS, who teaches accounting, economics, and law, comes to V. I. from Douglas, Georgia. Mr. Ayers' first Alma Mater is South Georgia College. He got his B. S. at Georgia Teachers College and in September, 1946, he went to the University of Tennessee to begin work on his master's degree in business education. In June of 1942, he was drafted into the Army and he was discharged, a captain, in August, 1946. Mr. Ayers was in the coast artillery and he spent most of his time in training centers, teaching and supervising instruction. When asked his views on V. I., Mr. Ayers said, "The student and faculty here are more courteous and kind than in any other school I have ever been in."

Both psychology and sociology are being taught this year by MR.

LAWRENCE VICKERS, who comes from Miami, Florida. Mr. Vickers has been in charge of the English reading tests and the psychology tests given at V. I. He hopes to open the reading clinic, which is located in the basement of the library, in the near future. The purpose of this clinic is to improve students' reading ability. Mr. Vickers is a Duke graduate. He has done both Baptist Student Work and preaching in Baptist Churches.

Mr. Vickers has traveled on state religious field work, working in a different church each week to try to boost church morale. He has also done extended statistical work on North Carolina Baptist Churches. During this past summer Mr. Vickers taught sociology at Florida State University.

Mr. Vickers is to be married on October 25 to a girl from North Carolina, with whom he was graduated from Duke.

MISS HOPE PEARSON, who is from Rogersville, Tennessee, is teaching textiles and clothing. Miss Pearson is a graduate of East Tennessee State College and she is a candidate for M. S. degree at the University of Tennessee. She also attended the University of Tennessee Recreation School to learn arts and crafts. For the past two years she has been teaching in Rogersville High School. Miss Pearson said that she has never been happier than she is at V. I. and she thinks all the girls are wonderful.

Many V. I. students have already met MISS JEANNETTE SMITH, the nurse down in the infirmary. Miss Smith attended high school here at V. I. so her surroundings are not new to her. Miss Smith is from New Haven, Connecticut, and she received her nurses' training at Grace Unit of New Haven, a branch of Yale school of nursing. She was graduated in 1946, and

CLUB CHATTER

Many new and exciting programs and plans have been made for this year's calendar of events, but take a deep breath, gals, because things have just begun to buzz on V. I.'s campus. There has been little time, thus far, for the numerous clubs to organize and add their gala affairs to the list of coming attractions, but it won't be long now.

Among some of the outstanding organizations on the campus are: Phi Theta Kappa, Phi Beta, Beta Club, Home Ec. Club, Curry Club, Science Club, Day Student's Club, Y-Teens, Delta Psi Omega, Debate Club, Art Club, Alpha Club, Thespians, and Click Club.

Still others included on the list are International Relations Club, Alpha Eta Epsilon, Tip and Run Club, Red Head's Club, 7-Up Club, Boots and Saddle Club Junior Orchestras Modern Dance Club, H2O Club, Tumbling Club, and the various state clubs.

So when you hear announcements of your club meeting, be sure to go, gals—it's fun to be in the swing.

B. S. U. Holds Twilight Service

V. I.'s front campus was the scene of a large bonfire, Friday, September 19, at sunset, as a group of students gathered for the Baptist Student Union Twilight Service.

The service opened with the students singing "Day is Dying in The West." "Opportunities Ahead at V. I." was discussed by Jewel Walker, president of the B. S. U. She ended her message to her fellow students by saying: "Such is our opportunity and such are our adversaries, thus we might well remember the word of Christ when he said, 'I have set before thee an opened door and no man can shut it, that is no other man, only yourself.'"

The service closed with the hymn "Now The Day Is Over."

this past summer she took a poetry appreciation and literature course at Hunter College, New York.

While she is at V. I. Miss Smith is taking a few courses so that she may continue her career in medicine.

Miss Smith is engaged to Dr. Abbott Newman, who is doing research at Cornell University.

MISS ALYCE AARON is from Winston-Salem, North Carolina, and she is here to teach speech and dramatics. She obtained her B. S. at Appalachian State Teachers College and she did graduate study at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York. Miss Aaron taught art in Joan of Arc Junior High School in New York. She has also done little theatre work in Florida.

The new art teacher, MISS RUBY BALL, is from Jonesville, Virginia. She studied at Columbia University, Western Washington College of Education, and Berea College. She has taught in schools in Delaware, Washington, and Oregon, and during this past summer she worked in the state tax assessment office in Salem, Oregon.

The following teachers, Dr. S. J. Marion, Miss Jeanette McCroskey, Miss Francis Eller, Miss Francis Hawkins, and Miss Clara Loe-maugh, have not yet been interviewed but they will appear in the next issue of the Cauldron.

Victor Mature hardly had time to unpack from his jaunt to the East before he had to take off for Kanab, Utah, for the lead in "Ballad of Furnace Creek." Colleen Gray will again play Vic's love interest. George Montgomery plays his brother and Reginald Gardiner his father.

New Jersey Club Is Organized

On Tuesday afternoon, September 23, the members of the New Jersey Club met to elect their officers for this year. Kay Brewer from Montclair was elected President; Jean Feindt, from Maplewood, is to be Vice-President; Helen Burgard, from Highland Park, Secretary-Treasurer, and Pat Gerdt, from Westfield, Publicity Chairman.

The Club is composed of about 25 members all from Jersey, and they plan to do many interesting things this year.

One of the first things that they plan to do is to have a supper at the "Teahole" sometime in the very near future.

News Flashes From Hollywood

Ned Sparks, who has been off the screen (voluntarily) for more than four years, will be seen again in "Magic Town," which stars Jamest Stewart and Jane Wyman. The only thing that persuaded him to come back to Hollywood was the fact that his Boston bull, which has been his companion for fifteen years, needs to winter in a warmer climate.

Paulette Goddard will have a chance to wear the clothes she bought in Paris in her new film, "Hazard," starting immediately, with MacDonald Carey.

NEW FACULTY MEMBERS

for the library but held up by the war was completed early in the summer.

Two asphalt tennis courts, still under construction, are being added for the students' pleasure.

The lighting in the stable has been improved and the stalls cleaned and painted in an effort to expand Virginia Intermont's riding course.

Little Pal Party Welcomes New Girls

did a dance of their native island. Rebecca Barksdale was featured in a toe dance, Mary B. Chandler sang, "What Is This Thing Called Love?" and "Mood Indigo." Two of the Cuban girls, Marguerite Camps and Mercy Riba, danced. Teddy Nelson, a pianist, played "Night and Day," and Joan Erkhart sang "Tea for Two." Mary Walker played on her accordion, "Dark Eyes," "El Rancho Grande," and "The Anniversary Song." Eileen Herbert sang "Because."

At the conclusion of the program ice cream was served and dancing was enjoyed by all.

PERSONALITY PARADE DORIS LUGAR

guy! "Mumsey" and Miss Pflug are two of Doris' favorite people because she admires them and what they stand for. To her they are symbols of V. I. and she loves V. I.

Doris says that she has the swellest roommate anyone could have. She likes people, and people like her. She'll go far in this world. She will. You will excuse us, please, at this point, because all Doris can think of is reading "Beowulf" for Mr. Cooke's English.

"All of The King's Men," considered Robert Penn Warren's finest novel, is being prepared for the screen. It is the interlocking saga of three men and a woman. The central figure, a backwoods lawyer with a gift for power, follows his star to become the ruthless political boss of his state. Robert Rosen, screen writer, is writing the screenplay.

coloratur soprano, was a member of the San Francisco Opera Company. She also sang with La Scala of Philadelphia and was a soloist with many leading symphony orchestras. Last winter Miss MacWatters was a sensational success as a member of the New York City Opera Company in the opera "Ariadne". During the past summer she sang with the Covent Garden Opera Company in London.

Marina Svetlova, dancer, and ballerina of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will be featured here with two assistant solo dancers, and a concert pianist.

The National Symphony Orchestra of Washington is directed by Dr. Hans Kindler, who is a world famous cellist, and has appeared in all the leading music centers of the United States. The Orchestra was founded in 1930 by its present conductor.

Doris Lugar Heads "Intermont" Staff

Jean Tucker, Anne Hawthorne, Phyllis Early, Ethel Dominick, Betty Simms, Marie Sleep.

Group Editor—Jo Anne Rhodes; Group Assistant—Helen Glazebrook; Sports Editor—Anne Henderson; Art Editor—Mary Anna Parker; Assistants—Vicky Wilburn, June Fairfield; Snapshot Editor—Martha Hood.

Typists—Bessie Salmons, Jo Ann Leighty, Margie Black, Edith Bishop, Bettie Boyd, Jewel Walker.

Faculty Advisor—C. Ernest Cooke.

Doris states: "Last year's annual is going to be hard to beat but with the work of the student body I hope this will be the best 'Intermont' that has been published."

PERSONALITY PARADE DORRIS WATSON

son: "Take two Graham crackers, spread with peanut butter, marshmallow cream, and cold fudge." Sounds good. She likes tuna fish, shrimp, and steak, but loathes milk and oysters. "Naturally," she says, "I wouldn't like oyster soup, would I?"

Dorris admires good looking clothes, and has a mad passion for her black cocker spaniel, Becky.

Gazing in our crystal ball, we predict a bright and happy future for our gal, Dorris. She has what it takes, and we are proud of our president.
